Comments:

I am an award winning mortgage professional that has made my way to do very well through honesty and integrity. I witnessed many in this industry make a quick buck with dishonest practice. I am very confident that most of these people are long gone with what has happened in our markets. I encourage legislators to be very careful with passing these types of mandates. They will eventually cut out the good guys and the business just becomes to regulated and difficult. Not only will business suffer, the homeowners will have less options, and the economy will continue to take hits. I really think alot of these new laws are clearly political...and not well thought out. Again, Ive seen the bad come into the business, and Ive seen it leave. The problem has already ocured. Tools should be continually created for us good guys to help the country out. Not continued limitations. Feel free to contact me directly with further questions. craigsewing@yahoo.com is my personal email. Thank you.
